TRNC Presidential Election 11th October 2020

The Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus (TRNC) will hold Presidential elections on October 11, 2020. Turkish Cypriots will go to the polls to elect a president for the next 5 years and for the referendum to increase the number of Supreme Court Judges. The propaganda period started on September 15, 2020 and will end on October 10, 2020.

According to the Constitution of the TRNC a Presidency candidate is required to have sufficiency to be elected as an MP, must be a university graduate, must be over 35 years old, born from Turkish parents, must have a TRNC citizenship and had 5 years permanent residence in Cyprus.

All TRNC citizens who are over the age of 18 have the right to vote.

7 independent candidates out of a total of 11 candidates will run in the Presidential elections. Order of the candidates for the ballots designated by a lot in the presence of the Supreme Committee of Elections.

1) Ersin Tatar (National Unity Party)

2) Tufan Erhürman (Republican Turkish Party)

3) Erhan Arıklı (Rebirth Party)

4) Fuat Çiner (Nationalist Democracy Party)

5) Arif Salih Kırdağ (Independent)

6) Ahmet Boran (Independent)

7) Mustafa Ulaş (Independent)

8) Alpan Uz (Independent)

9) Kudret Özersay (Independent)

10) Mustafa Akıncı (Independent)

11) Serdar Denktaş (Independent)

According to the 99th Article of the TRNC Constitution, in order to be elected as the President a candidate must receive more than half of the valid votes. If no candidate receives the absolute majority of the votes, the election will be repeated on October 18, 2020 between the two candidates who received the highest number of votes and the candidate who then receives the most votes will be elected as the next TRNC President.

Presidential elections will be held for the 10th time since 1974. The Turkish Cypriot people, who held their first presidential election under the ceiling of their own State on June 20, 1976, held the elections for the presidency of the Turkish Federated State of Cyprus twice and for the Presidency of the TRNC seven times in the past 44 years.

Recent (2015) Presidential Elections:

Total Number of Voters: 176,916
Number of Voting Voters: 110,303
Election participation Rate: 62.35%.

In the presidential elections held on 19 April 2015, Mustafa Akıncı and Derviş Eroğlu were the candidates for the second round.

In the second round of elections held on April 26, 2015, Mustafa Akıncı, who received 60.5% (67,032) of the votes was elected as the President, ahead of Derviş Eroğlu, who received 39.5% (43,763) of the votes.

Presidential elections since 1976

1976 Rauf Raif Denktaş (The Turkish Federated State of Cyprus)

1981 Rauf Raif Denktaş (The Turkish Federated State of Cyprus)

Following the proclamation of the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus on 15 November 1983, the Constitution of the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus was submitted to the referendum and was adopted on May 5, 1985.

The first presidential election of the TRNC was held on June 9, 1985. Rauf Denktaş, who received 70.21 percent of the votes in the 1st round of voting, became the first President.

1985 Rauf Raif Denktaş (Founding President)

1990 Rauf Raif Denktaş

1995 Rauf Raif Denktaş

2000 Rauf Raif Denktaş

2005 Mehmet Ali Talat

2010 Derviş Eroğlu

2015 Mustafa Akıncı

Çavuşoğlu: 'Step for Maraş property to be taken later'

Turkish Foreign Minister Mevlüt Çavuşoğlu made evaluations to media in Slovakia where he attended the Bratislava Global Security Forum.

Çavuşoğlu mentioned that because Maraş was closed for many years the properties which belong to Evkaf could not be used by people, including Greek Cypriots.

Stressing the importance of opening the coastline, which is not private property, and some roads, Çavuşoğlu said that TRNC citizens are satisfied to be able to use these, especially the coast.

Çavuşoğlu added 'We will continue to put steps forward related to this issue by respecting the private property rights and the UN Regulations'.

Statement by the Ministry Of Health 7th October 2020

Ministry of Health decided to put into force the following decisions taken by the High Committee for Contagious Diseases:

Following a drop in the number of Coronavirus and local transmission cases in the country, all places of worship, bars, casinos and massage parlours will be reopened after 7th October 2020 on the condition that health and safety measures are observed.

1. Places of Worship

Worshippers will be required to wear face masks, maintain social distancing and observe the health and safety measures.

Areas, where worship is carried out, will need to be ventilated at all times and a register of all entering will be required.

2. Bars

A maximum of six persons will be allowed to sit at each table. The distance between tables will need to be two meters apart. Again all venues will need to be ventilated at all times and all customers will need to register their names upon entry.

No one will be allowed to stand up in the venue when the tables are full.

3. Casinos

Similar health and safety measures will be adopted at casinos.

In addition all staff and customers will be required to use hand disinfectants regularly and machines will be disinfected after every customer.

No open buffet dinners will be allowed at casinos.

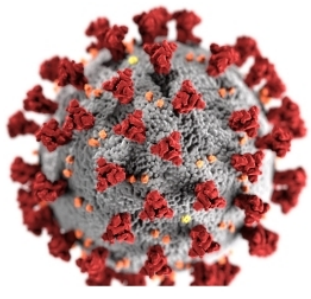

4. Massage Parlours

Personnel should use protective equipment during sessions and have to do PCR tests once a week.

Health and safety measures should be observed and the venue will be disinfected after every customer.

In addition a register of all entering will be required.

President Akıncı video call with UN Secretary General Guterres

President Mustafa Akıncı held a video call with UN Secretary General Antonio Guterres on Friday night (2nd October 2020).

The meeting, which is organised each year within the framework of the annual UN General Council meetings in New York, was held via a video call this year due to the Coronavirus pandemic.

During the meeting the Cyprus issue and the latest developments in the Eastern Mediterranean were discussed.

Interlocutor of Greek Cypriots remains with Turkish Cypriots

Turkish Foreign Ministry: "The interlocutor of Greek Cypriots until the Cyprus problem is solved remains with the Turkish Cypriots, not Turkey".

The Turkish Foreign Ministry made a written statement on Friday (2nd October 2020) and stressed that some elements of the European Union summit decisions concerning Turkey were positive, but many areas were "divorced from realities".

The statement also drew attention to the fact that no reference was made to the Turkish Cypriots in the summit decisions. It said that the failure of the decisions to mention the fair distribution of revenues of the island's hydrocarbon resources was proof of the continuing mentality that ignored the Turkish Cypriots. The statement read "As we have repeatedly stated before, the interlocutor of Greek Cypriots until the Cyprus problem is solved remains with the Turkish Cypriots, not Turkey. There can be no negotiation of maritime jurisdiction areas with the Greek Cypriot Administration in any platform that does not include the Turkish Cypriots. This can only happen after the Cyprus problem is solved".

Oktay: Arguments by Greece and Greek Cypriots are baseless

In an interview published in 'Kriter' Magazine, Turkish Vice President Fuat Oktay said 'The arguments put forward by Greece and the Greek Cypriots are baseless according to international law and the world will recognise Turkey's rightness sooner or later'.

Oktay pointed out that Turkey had an obligation to defend the legitimate rights and interests of the Turkish Cypriots and added 'Turkey has no designs on the rights and territories of any other country'.

Turkey taken steps to protect own interests and Turkish Cypriots

Turkish Foreign Minister Mevlüt Çavuşoğlu pointed out that Turkey has taken steps in the Eastern Mediterranean to protect its own interests and the interests of the Turkish Cypriots.

According to the news of the Anadolu Agency, Çavuşoğlu gave a speech at the joint press conference following his meeting with NATO Secretary General Jens Stoltenberg.

Stating that a risk of conflict has occurred between the allied countries due to Greece sending military vessels to the zone where Turkish vessels have been conducting seismic research, Çavuşoğlu added "NATO wanted to play a discriminator role. We have considered this initiative as positive from the beginning and have given support. We have attended all meetings and made supportive statements for the UN Secretary General and the secretariat. In the beginning, Greece showed negative attitudes but now we see that Greece has attended the meetings. We are very satisfied with this".

Turkey will not give up rights in the Eastern Mediterranean

Erdoğan: "Those who understand that Turkey will not give up its rights in the Eastern Mediterranean were finally forced to pay attention to the calls for dialogue".

Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan evaluated the latest developments in the Eastern Mediterranean and Turkey's approach to the Blue Homeland in an interview with a newspaper in Qatar.

Reminding that Turkey has always supported the fair distribution of the Eastern Mediterranean's wealth by riparian countries in the region, he said Ankara had repeatedly emphasised this during all its diplomatic initiatives. "However, some countries, particularly Greece, which are disturbed by Turkey's presence through unilateral steps, have chosen to stir tensions in the region. Turkey's effective role in the region is what has prompted France, which has a long history of colonialism, to provoke Greece, the Greek Cypriot Administration and now Armenia to adopt tension-based strategies" Erdoğan said.

He repeated that Turkey will not surrender its rights in the Aegean and the Eastern Mediterranean. Rejecting any solution which ignores Turkey and the TRNC, confining them to their shores, the Turkish President said, "We have voiced and will continue to voice loudly at every platform that we shall always, under all conditions, continue to protect our rights and interests with determination."

Erdoğan said that those who understand that Turkey will not give up its rights in the Eastern Mediterranean and will not bow down to empty threats or blackmail were finally forced to pay attention to the calls for dialogue. He said Turkey has kept its channels for diplomacy open from the very beginning and has shown that it supports the de-escalation of tensions in the Eastern Mediterranean through dialogue, not only with statements but with actions as well. "We are enjoying the comfort of being justified according to international law.

Accordingly, we take all our steps in the Eastern Mediterranean within the win-win perspective and with the aim of protecting our interests while at the same time striving for peace and benefits for all Mediterranean countries."

TFR enjoy Oktoberfest at the Alvadar Restaurant, Lapta

It was interesting to see that The Foreign Residents in the TRNC (TFR) were able to hold a very successful Oktoberfest which was achieved by adapting the event planning to suit COVID-19 restrictions in this newsletter from Ralph Kratzer.

Readers mail….
Ralph Kratzer....

Dear members of TFR!

The Oktoberfest this year was different - due to the COVID-19 regulations - but none-the-less it was a great success! We are looking forward to seeing more members at the second Bavarian Night next Sunday, 11th October at Alvadar restaurant in Lapta!!

Here is the report of our Events Manager Pamela about last Sunday's event:

"Wow... Oktoberfest... even with adhering to the new social rules the atmosphere, food & music were absolutely great. Of course as usual a huge thank you from me to our TFR members for the support in making this one of the best Oktoberfests yet... different in many ways but one that will be hard to make better!!!

Thank you to Dave Mancini, the DJ, who - with our Deputy Chairman Brad - sat together mixing Oktoberfest Music that Brad had already downloaded with music Dave added to give us an Oktoberfest with visual effects to get toes tapping with people taking up the challenge to dance on the tables!!

Also big thanks to Danny Wogan, the New Alvadar's Chef.... having listened to our Committee member Ralph Kratzer´s suggestions for authentic Bavarian dishes... Danny set to work to create a menu that met everyone's approval. Without a doubt, we enjoyed his food as much as he enjoyed the challenge!!!

I must not forget Sandy Oram, our Treasurer, who runs the money side like clockwork.... it makes life so much easier!!

Finally, thank you to Elif & her team who worked tirelessly to make sure we got what we asked for & more.... we look forward to next Sunday for the re-run that one couple rebooked for before leaving!!!"

KAR - News Update

THANK YOU LITTLE STEPS NURSERY, KARAKUM

October 4th was World Animal Day and the fabulous children at Little Steps Nursery in Karakum decided they would like to mark this day by donating food to KAR.

Elaine, our centre manager, went along on Monday morning to thank the children for their generous donation of food. Here is only a very small selection of photos of the children handing over the food but our thank you to them all is huge.

In these difficult times we would find it nearly impossible to continue our work without such generosity. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

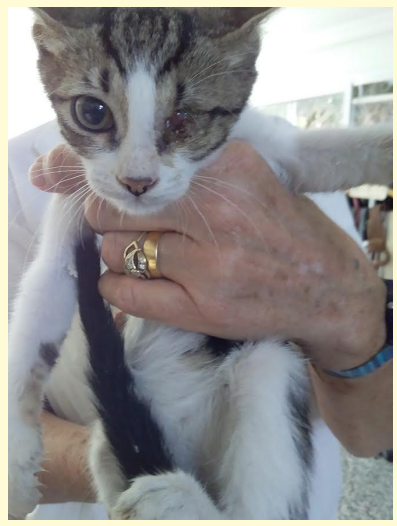

Good morning everyone!
Let me introduce myself, oh hang on I don't currently have a name.
Anyway, I can tell you a little bit about me though. I was found in a dark and horrible car park all on my own. I'm very little but full of fun and love being fussed. I am weaned and love my food so I'm determined to grow into a big strong cat. Can you help me do that?
I am looking for a special someone to offer me a furever home please. I promise I will be a lovely furry companion to you. I have a poorly eye at the moment but the lovely people at KAR have said they will get that fixed for me once I'm a little bit bigger and I have a home to convalesce in.
I'm currently running rings around the ladies that volunteer in the Gladrags shop and the KAR office in Karakum so if you think you could offer me a furever home please do come along and say hello. If no one comes forward to offer me a furever home I will need an urgent foster home as soon as possible. Could you help me please? You can come and see me anytime between 9am and 1pm. Looking forward to your cuddles.

Thank you Taskent for the wonderful donation of chicken that you dropped off. We have shared it with other individuals in the community who are caring for street dogs and cats - and they in turn shared it with others too - Thank you for that .
You have heard the term "Chicken Run" - that is what it was like ... a mad mad dash to get it out to people, who could meet up with us quickly, before it went off in the heat.
Lots of street cats and dogs will be tucking into chicken wings for a while now.

KAR - News Update

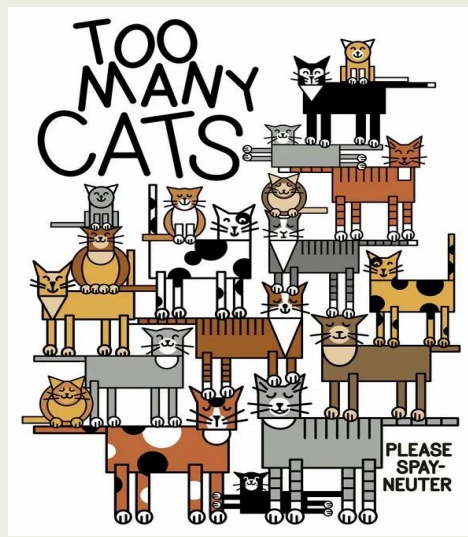

Snip snip snip .... Our vet and clinic assistants have been busy. Since returning from the summer break they have been steadily working their way through the waiting list of street cats that need neutering.

During their visit to the clinic the cats are health checked, given worm/tick/flea treatments and a long lasting antibiotic.
In September 41 cats were neutered/spayed by Team KAR.

Thank you everyone involved - be it bringing cats to us/cat team who go out to catch the cats/hotels who bring in cats and members of the public who donate to the programme.

26 females and 15 males have benefited (although the cats themselves may not initially see it as a benefit!!) this month. Well done and Thank You.

We all know the film Grease and many of us even know the words to the many songs (as well as the dances!!). C'mon how many of you are already humming Summer Nights or another Grease song!!
Back in March 2019 4 pups came into KAR - they came in from Catalkoy, where since they were born, they had been looked after (until we had space for them) by a local bar/restaurant. The pups were adorable and were very mischievous little Monkeys! The bar owners organised to have the pups' Mum (who was a stray in the area for a little while) neutered as soon as she stopped feeding the pups.
Once they arrived at our Rescue Center 2 of the pups were homed quite quickly leaving just Danny and Sandy looking for their "furever" home. Despite them being very friendly and happy pups no one chose them. So they have been waiting and waiting - hoping and hoping.
Last week Heather and Ido visited the center and fell in love with Danny and Sandy. They wanted one of them but it was such a hard decision - which one? It was a case of "You're the one that I want" or is it You ?
Home visits and pre-checks were done and still they couldn't decide - Danny or Sandy? After much discussion and soul searching they decided that they simply couldn't do it. They couldn't choose between them - they couldn't split them up. So they adopted both!!
They came to collect the dogs and as they all left to take them home we are sure we know the doggy conversation between Danny and Sandy went something like this ....
Sandy: "Is this the end Danny ?" Danny ; "Of course not, it's only the beginning Sandy" Shoo-bop bop, shoo-bop bop, shoo-bop bop, shoo-bop bop, shoo-bop bop, shoo-bop bop, shoo-bop bop, YEH !
YEH happy days Danny, Sandy, Heather and Ido

Poem by Nick Vye - Sanctuary

AMULETS

In the bygone days of old,
Hear the stories that were told,
Of a magical object that would protect,
Stopping all those negative effects,

It could be bracelet or even a ring,
Something you bought or someone would bring,
It had that special power to keep you from harm,
Many soothsayers called it a lucky charm,

Even today in some cultural traditions,
It is looked upon to warn of premonitions,
So to wear one brings peace of mind,
With safety and luck all of the time,

So don't be afraid or even suspicious,
They are something of worth that is auspicious,
And when you travel across the lands,
Make sure you have it in your hands,

Wear it with pride and with love,
You will be guided by heaven above,
This is the omen, I have to relate,
Take it to heart before it's too late,

With all its protection most of the time,
An amulet's guidance is the best you can find,
So don't go and tempt your fate,
Get an amulet now before it's too late .....

Looking back at Famagusta beach in 1954

Readers mail….
From Richard Chamberlain….

At the risk of boring those that have heard my story before, I would like to tell you how Famagusta Beach used to be in 1954 when I first arrived on the beautiful Island of Cyprus and how it looks now. I arrived at the end of May 1954 to serve as a wireless operator in the Royal Signals Regiment at just outside Famagusta, we knew it as 4 mile point.

We were given a couple of days off before we started our duties, so we all went down to the beach.

Being 18 years old and just from the UK, we were not aware of the strength of the sun, so after a couple of hours in the sun, I got severely sunburned. My back came up in one big blister. We were not allowed to go sick in the army with sunburn, it was classed as self-inflicting injury. So I just had to suffer until it got better. After that, I took more care!

Famagusta Beach and surrounding buildings were a very different scene from today. There were no hotels, only small private houses and bungalows. The Army had one house at the beach for the soldiers to have a beer or get changed for swimming. People talk about the "Island of Paradise", but it really was in those days.

Everywhere changes over the years and nowhere as much as the waterfront at Famagusta Beach. The property developers bought up the small houses and bungalows and built massive hotels on the edge of the beach. So close to the sea edge that around 2 pm each day the sunshine is blocked out by the shadow of the hotels.

The hotels should have been built further back to allow the sun to be on the beach and sea for later in the afternoon, so allowing the sunbathers and holidaymakers more time to enjoy the sun,

There is talk about opening up "Varosha", we knew it as Famagusta, and if they do and find out that a lot of the hotels are unsafe after 60 years, and have to be demolished, let us hope the builders and planners will have sense and forethought to move the new hotels further back away from the waters edge., like the Palm Beach Hotel pictured in 1954 and now. The Palm Beach Hotel, owned now by the Arkin Group is a beautiful 5 Star hotel. I have stayed there many times.

The sea and the beach are still one of the most beautiful in the world, and even in these dark days of COVID=19, you can still go there and enjoy it. I went there a few days ago, and the sea was lovely.

Best wishes to all CyprusScene readers,
Richard Chamberlain

Famagusta beach in the evening light with what used to be the Constantia Hotel now called the Palm Beach Hotel.

The army had their own place along the Famagusta beach where the troops could get changed and have a beer after their swim. I think it was named St Georges Hotel.

The small houses and small hotels can be seen. It must have been paradise to live there.

It was a beautiful beach with a clear warm sea.

4th October was Animal Protection Day

A press release was issued by Girne Municipality for October 4th - Animal Protection Day.

Animal friends were first established in England in 1822. They established the Union for the Protection of Animals in order to protect animals, to ensure that people treat animals well and feed and protect them in better conditions. This organisation gathered in Florence, Italy in 1931 and declared October 4th as Animal Protection Day to draw attention to the species of animal under threat of extinction in the world. The purpose of this day is to understand that there are other creatures other than humans in the universe, not to interfere with their living spaces and to respect the right to live.

Girne Mayor Nidai Güngördü said : "The date of 4th October should be a day that requires awareness rather than celebration. Because, unfortunately, cruelty and mistreatment of animals continues globally. The fact that examples of this are seen in our country really saddens us.

As we believe that every living creature has a place and value in the whole of life, as the Municipality of Girne we are ready to help the needy, ill-treated, injured, homeless and hungry animals. We believe in the necessity to cooperate with many non-governmental organisations and animal lovers working on these issues with great devotion and effort. Meeting the basic needs of the animals in our home care should be among our primary responsibilities as per the Animal Welfare Law.

We, as Girne Municipality, continue to work intensively through our Girne Municipality Animal Shelter and Rehabilitation Center, which we opened in 2017, especially for stray animals in need of assistance and for the regular veterinary controls and needs of stray animals, as well as for sick or injured stray animals.

Remember that animals as well as humans have the right to happiness and freedom. It is also our duty as sensitive people to take care of the animals in need around us and to treat them with compassion."

Thank you so much H4P.

Tamara Jax-Birgfellner - 3rd October

We need your help to help as flight escort for 5 small orphaned puppies to any Airport in Germany, Belgium or the Netherlands.

You may recall after my dear Dad passed away in May we wanted to honour his memory.

With the help of Hope 4 Pets we promised to help these desperate puppies that had been orphaned when their mother was poisoned.

We now have found homes for the puppies and they are being prepared for travel.

Walking the Dogs - 7th October 2020

Readers Mail ....
from Carole King ....

So we started again to do the walking after a very hot Summer, so picked a cool October day - NOT lol.

Despite it being very warm I think all the 20 dogs and 7 walkers enjoyed the morning walks and getting to know the dogs, a lot of which we haven't walked before.

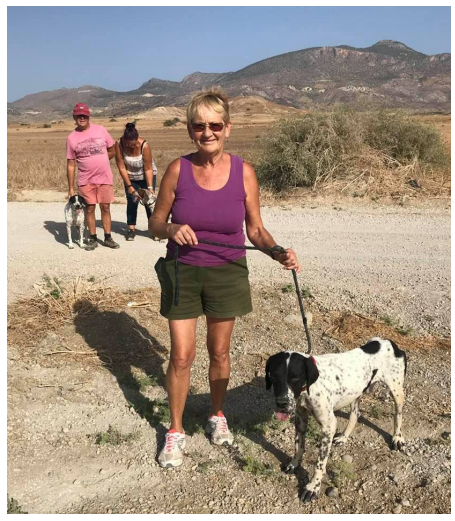

Thank you to Val Maskell, Kim and Graham McIntyre, Adela and John Warrington and Mike Bezzant for their time and care, the doggies love you.

We walked Roxy, Blue, Karmi, Mummy, Dylan, Samba, Tucker, Bernard, Frank, Bruce, Leila, Morris, Elmo, Timothy, Bella, Julyet, Luna, Jessie, Shelly and Lucille.

All beautiful dogs who say thank you for our treats and exercise xxx

If you would like to join the group of dog walkers please message me on the following Facebook link

Is there anybody out there who can help the Esentepe Oily Dogs?

By Richard Beale .....

Remember the 3 oily dogs? Dumped by some cruel so and so in the August heat at the old Army Camp just outside Esentepe Village with no food or water. Dumped in a pit where people change their car oil, so they were covered in oil hence their nickname "the Oily Dogs."

We managed to clean them up, but one dog had severe malnutrition and was dehydrated, it turned out she was literally hours away from death. She was taken to Petline where Niyazi performed a miracle, packing her with hot water bottles and saving her life. Barking Mad kindly provided the funds for her treatment and the inoculations for the other two dogs. Ollie, as she is now called, was too weak to be returned to the forest, so she recovered at our house where she has remained ever since! We have two old dogs, didn't really want another one, especially a young dog, but she has melted our hearts and is now one of the family.

The other two, Peanut and Popeye, stayed in the forest at the oil pit, which is now covered with straw to keep them reasonably oil free. Many locals and expats have very kindly fed them or provided us with money to buy food for them and straw to soak up the oil. They were happy roaming and playing in the forest, but there are dangers, snakes, poison, hunters, they could have worried sheep and goats and upset the shepherd and of course, they had no shelter from the elements.

Hot August and an even hotter September came and went for them but they were fed daily by a small group of people.

After having all their inoculations it was time for them to be neutered and spayed which happened in early October at Petline. John Rawlinson who has helped feed them and paid towards their operations, together with the help of Hope4Pets, found temporary accommodation in an empty house in Esentepe where they could recover from their operation.

They are now at this "temporary" accommodation, for how long we do not know, yes they have lost their freedom, but they have a balcony and are given two walks a day. It's not ideal but they are safe and when the bad weather comes they will be dry. We hope that we do not have to return them to the forest, where they will have to face the winter in the open air.

Peanut is a "peanut" coloured female Lab/Pointer cross, Popeye a brown/white pointer, we think they are brother and sister around 9 months old. They are devoted to each other, go everywhere and play together, they are inseparable, so friendly and have so much love to give.

They have had a rotten start to their lives, they didn't ask or deserved what has happened to them.

CAN YOU HELP?

They are fully inoculated spayed and neutered.
These dogs desperately need a permanent home.
Or provide temporary foster care until a permanent home can be found.
Can anyone help by taking them out for a walk?
Also any food, blankets, toys, etc would be welcome.

Another devastating blow for the "OILY DOGS"

By Richard Beale .....

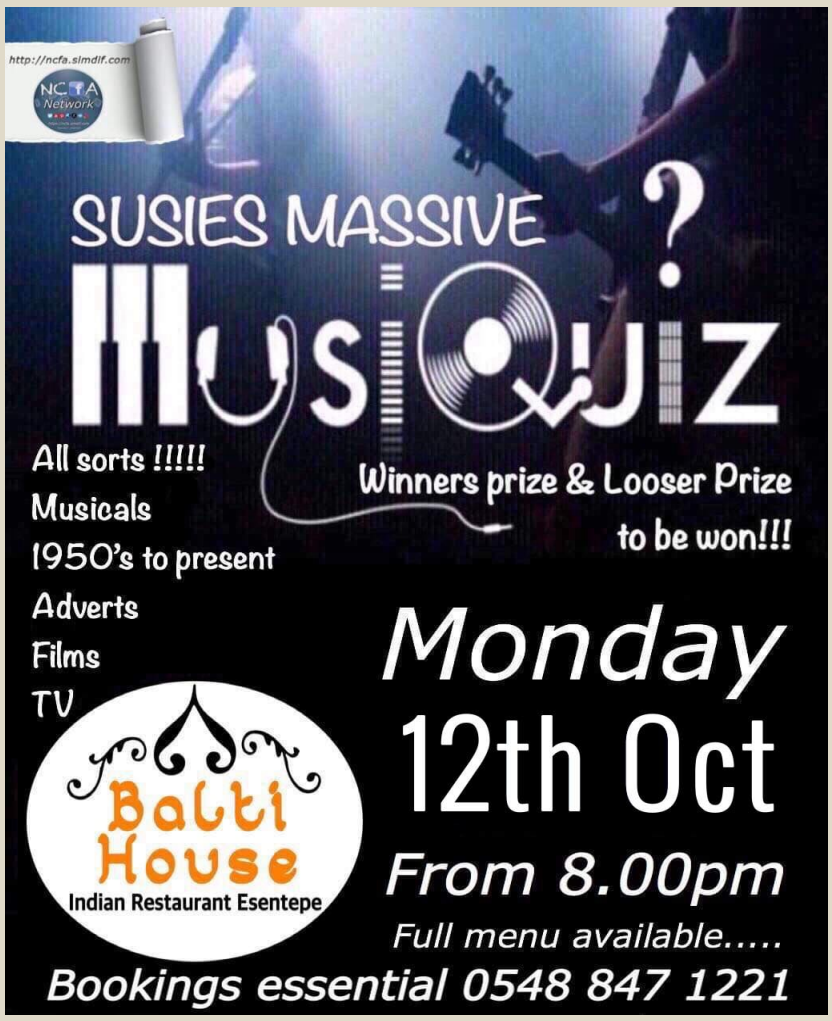

Late last night (Oct 7th) we received some really bad news, regarding the "Oily Dogs", Peanut and Popeye (see my previous posting) that we have 24 hours to remove the dogs from the empty/deserted house they are staying in, while they recover from being spayed and neutered.

I know the weather of late has been incredible but winter is just around the corner and we were hoping that they could stay a little longer. Even though the estate where they are staying is 97% empty, the committee and Management Company think otherwise.

What can we do? do we simply dump them back to the oil pit in the forest? I personally would feel as guilty as the heartless b.....d who originally dumped them there in August. Please is there anybody out there who can help? The situation for these 2 beautiful dogs is URGENT and CRITICAL.

Can anybody provide permanent accommodation or temporary/foster accommodation or a safe empty house/shelter for them while we try to find a suitable home for them. The clock is counting down on Peanut and Popeye, please help if you can! Contact me 0533 8309968.
